

ANGLIN'S ACTION PUZZLES PARSONS

Thinks Democrats Are Responsible for Another Man Entering Race.

Washington, October 11.—John M. Parsons, State Senator for the Virginia House of Delegates, contestant for the seat of Representative E. W. Saunders in the Sixty-first Congress, and a candidate for the same place in the Sixty-second Congress, is a much perplexed man. He has been in Washington for several days hobnobbing with the wise ones here, trying to get light and some intelligent guidance that will show him just where he stands.

"What Mr. Parsons would like to know is whether or not Judge Saunders and his Democratic supporters of the Fifth District put the other candidates, who are opposing Mr. Parsons—Anglin, up to running, just to muddy the waters and to make an Elliott Matthews affair. Seen here to day, Mr. Parsons is willing that he was puzzled about the matter.

"Why, I believe," he said, "that Saunders' friends have put out this man Anglin just to make another case like that of Elliott Matthews, the lunatic. It is quite probable that if the man Anglin goes on the ballot to be printed and distributed at the polling places this fall, and I win out over Saunders, the friends of the latter will make a big blunder about the irregularity of the ballot.

"Who is this man Anglin, anyhow? the one they call the 'Insurgent'?"

"I am the regular nominee of the Republicans in my district, and that fellow could not get a handful of votes in the whole State. What's he doing about it? I like to know, when I am the regular nominee of the district? If I'm not to be the only Republican candidate to run, when then what's the use of my running? No, Mr. Anglin couldn't get many votes, and he knows it—or ought to. What I want to know is, if Saunders' friends are at the bottom of this trick."

Judge Saunders is not in Washington just now, hence no statement can be secured from him as to whether or not he is responsible for the putting out of Mr. Anglin on the Republican ticket in the Fifth District as an "Insurgent," just to muddy the waters and make trouble for Parsons. If he can answer the question in the negative, Mr. Parsons will less relieve Mr. Parsons' mind of much uneasiness.

ple shouted and cheered and gave Stuart such a welcome that his big heart overflowed with gratitude.

A speakers' stand was erected in the grove and beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens. Surrounding this were seats for the accommodation of the people, but the crowd was so immense that the seats were not sufficient, and the people sat on the grass. At 11 A. M. the meeting was called to order by Robert L. Pennington, and after the band had rendered a few pieces of music Mr. Stuart was introduced, and as he arose he received a great ovation.

STUART AND GLASS CRITICIZE SLEMP

Forceful Democratic Orators Address Great Gathering at Jonesville.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Jonesville, Va., October 11.—Perhaps the largest political gathering ever assembled in Lee county met together to-day at Blackwater to greet Henry C. Stuart and Hon. Carter Glass, of Lynchburg. Messrs. Stuart and Glass arrived in Jonesville last night from Wise, and this morning began the journey from there over the Wallen's Ridge and Powell's Mountain. Quite a number of people gathered in Jonesville this morning, some on horseback and some in hacks, to accompany the speakers to the appointed place. By the time Hunter's Gap was reached, four miles from Jonesville, the procession had swelled to 300 or 400 people, and by the time the party had reached the foot of the Powell's Mountain, on the south, 500 people were in line, and when the place of speaking was reached the procession looked like an army on a triumphant march.

When the speakers arrived at the grounds the whole face of the earth seemed covered with people. It was estimated that from 2,000 to 2,500 people were on the ground. As Stuart and Glass drove on the ground the people

Mr. Glass made a powerful and telling speech, and the people were loath to break up at the conclusion of his address of one hour and a half.

State Commissioner of Insurance J. R. Wood was called to-day by the clerks of the towns and cities of North Carolina for reports on the fire fighting apparatus and general system of keeping down fire waste, this being a necessary preliminary for the steps for the collection by the commissioner from the insurance companies doing business in North Carolina of the one-half of one per cent. tax on policy premiums collected by the respective companies for the year. This tax is the firemen's relief fund provided by the Legislature of two years ago. Only towns that maintain a fire fighting apparatus valued at $1,000 at least, and observe the State law regulating precautions against fire waste, can enjoy the benefits of this fund.

PARDON IS GIVEN TO LEE CALDWELL

Had Lived in South Richmond, Where He Had Good Reputation.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Raleigh, N. C., October 11.—In granting pardon for Lee Caldwell, of Warren county, to-day, serving six years for manslaughter in the killing of a man who had a week before attacked and beaten his (Caldwell's) mother, Governor Kitchin to-day stated in connection with the reasons for the pardon that Caldwell was for six years engaged in the furniture business in Manchester (now South Richmond), Va., and was regarded there as "honest, industrious, temperate and polite." The Governor says, too, that the dead man seems to have attacked Caldwell's mother without apparent good reason, and that when Caldwell got up with him, he told him he intended to beat him or be beaten. The deceased struck Caldwell with a hoe, which Caldwell got possession of and returned the blow. Then the deceased got in three bad wounds on Caldwell with his knife. Thereafter Caldwell backed off and fell into a ditch, where he drew his revolver and fired a fatal shot, as the deceased was coming at him again. He was sentenced to years of the sentence. The trial judge and the solicitor joined in asking for the pardon.

Call for Reports.

State Commissioner of Insurance J. R. Wood was called to-day by the clerks of the towns and cities of North Carolina for reports on the fire fighting apparatus and general system of keeping down fire waste, this being a necessary preliminary for the steps for the collection by the commissioner from the insurance companies doing business in North Carolina of the one-half of one per cent. tax on policy premiums collected by the respective companies for the year. This tax is the firemen's relief fund provided by the Legislature of two years ago. Only towns that maintain a fire fighting apparatus valued at $1,000 at least, and observe the State law regulating precautions against fire waste, can enjoy the benefits of this fund.

The W. A. Adams Co., of Oxford, received a charter to-day with $15,000 capital authorized, and $1,500 subscribed, for a mercantile company. W. A. Adams, Oxford, and J. P. Taylor, Henderson, are the principal incorporators. The Weldon company of the North Carolina National Guard has notified guard headquarters here that it will be here in a body on some day of State Fair week (Friday, October 14). An effort is to be made to induce the company to come in time to take part in the parade from the Yarrowborough to the fair grounds on the day of their visit. M. M. Drake is captain of the company. The local militia will provide courtesies for the visitors while here.

Commissioners by Governor.

Governor Kitchin to-day commissioned Dr. D. E. Everitt and Colonel W. P. Wood as directors of the North Carolina Soldiers' Home to succeed late Colonel A. B. Stornach and the late Major B. F. Dixon. Colonel Wood is the Democratic nominee for State Auditor, and he takes the place of Major Dixon, late Auditor, on the board. Major Dixon was secretary of the board of directors, and it is expected that Colonel Wood will assume the duties of the secretaryship when he enters upon his directorship.

Another appointment by the Governor to-day was that of Dr. N. E. McCannless, of Salisbury, as a director of the North Carolina Railroad, to fill the vacancy by the recent death of L. E. Hellig.

The alumni of the University of North Carolina in Raleigh are preparing for their annual banquet on the occasion of University Day, observed each October 12. A special committee has the preliminary arrangements in hand, and the affair promises to be of an exceptionally elaborate nature.

The recapture of the Grand Theatre was made permanent to-day by Judge Charles M. Cooke after a hearing here this morning. Francis Cox being continued for the permanent recapture. The playhouse is to be run right along by Lessee Finch, whose lease is not interfered with by the financial complications of the owners of the building.

Governor Overthrown.

Rio Janeiro, October 11.—The Governor of the state of Amazonas, Col. Ribeiro Bittencourt, has been overthrown by the opposition, aided by federal forces. Serious disturbances followed the Governor's removal, and the federal militia bombarded the town of Manaus, which is the capital of the state.

CAROLINA ELEVEN ABOUT SELECTED

Will Probably Be One of Strongest Teams in Entire South.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Chapel Hill, N. C., October 11.—After five weeks of hard practice and two arduous contests Coach Bridges has about picked the varsity team from his great mass of material, the best that has thronged the local gridiron for the past five years.

At centre Brown, by his aggressive work of building (smash), has about outstripped all other contestants. He is a player developed out of last year's scrub team, and is a hard, determined fighter.

Left guard is being held down by McLean, of last year's varsity, with scoring machine of Warrenton High school fame, a brilliant underdog.

Both last season's varsity tackles are back and are beginning to show their old form. Garrett at left tackle is playing the same great offensive game which won him distinction and the position of captain of last year's varsity. Spauldine, who is working hard for left tackle, but is being pushed close by Abernethy, of last year's Oak Ridge team.

Ends are to be had in abundance this fall. Venable, Winston and "Piet" Williams are not a few of the county boys, a recruit from V. M. L. is also to be counted upon, and it is the position, right and left, and that Coach Bridges is undecided as to his three-place men.

Back has about clinched his position at quarter-back. He is a good punter and is especially strong on returning punts.

In the back field Dr. Bridges has two sets of men, both of which he will work to advantage. In the heavy back field Porter last season's star line plunger; Ruffin, whose forte is circling ends for good, consistent gains, and "Big" Samuel Spencer, an old A. and M. star and All South Atlantic half-back, are commencing to know each other's style of work together in the best of form.

As a lighter back-field, Ritchie, a half-back developed from the scrub team, will form a lighter, but faster trio.

For the Carolina line has shown up as well as could be expected. In the two games played so far Carolina's line has been almost impregnable, and neither the spirited, scrappy aggression from V. M. L. nor the strong Kentucky bunch could make repeated gains by line plunging.

The trouble so far this year has been in the back-field. The half-backs seem rather slow in their formation, and it is because of this that Carolina's back-field is thought to be the weak point of the team. It is hoped that the coming week will see a fast trio in the back-field, and it is thought that Trainer Cartmel, who enjoys an enviable reputation nationally as a sprinter, will be of invaluable assistance in developing this most essential part of the team.

If this much-hoped-for improvement comes about in Carolina's back-field, and her line continues its hard and consistent work

DECLINES TO ACT IN MORSE CASE

Matter Must Be Brought to President Through Regular Channels.

Beverly, Mass., October 11.—President Taft announced to-day that he would decline to take any action whatsoever on recent applications for clemency in the case of Charles W. Morse, the convicted New York banker, now serving a term in the Federal prison at Atlanta, until the papers in the case come to his desk, through the regular routine channels, and with a report from the Department of Justice.

The latest application in behalf of Morse was made to-day by Gilbert A. Peavey, of Boston, whose daughter married a son of the former banker. While generally opposed to hearing on pardon cases, the President told Mr. Peavey he would give him a chance to be heard before he had finally disposed of the case.

President Taft's plans for the return to Washington have been completed. He has decided to stop over in New York for two days, as the guest of his brother, Henry W. Taft, who has just returned from Europe, and will not be back at the capital until October 20.

The President will leave Beverly next Monday afternoon, the 17th, and will reach New York Monday night. While the President's New York visit is to be largely one of pleasure, the chances are that some of the Republican leaders will take advantage of his presence to consult him about matters in the State. Mr. Taft expects to attend the theatres two evenings, and Mrs. Taft will finish her last shopping.

Henry C. Ide, former Governor of the Philippines, and now minister to Spain, spent two hours with the President this evening. The call was said to be one of the courtesy order.

J. F. McGreggor, of Texas, who had been visiting his old home, in New Hampshire, saw the President to-day and told of plans to build up the Republican party in Texas. Mr. McGreggor believes that the party can get a strong foothold in the State if given a little encouragement. Mr. McGreggor included in his conversation the names of Cecil A. Lyon, the present Republican national committeeman from the State. Mr. Taft expressed interest in the McGreggor plans, and Mr. McGreggor has promised to keep him posted.

INSPECTING SITES.

Committee on Lutheran Women's College, Visits Virginia, Tennessee.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

East Radford, Va., October 11.—The Lutheran joint committee, sitting in Marion to-day, heard proposals from delegations of various towns seeking to be the site of the new Lutheran Women's College. Arrived here to-day, the committee will look over the St. Alban's School property. Members of the Radford delegation, who returned on an earlier train, were very hopeful. Marion, Salem and Christiansburg appeared as rival claimants for consideration. The Radfordites were of the impression that Marion was their strongest rival.

The exact terms offered by the others were not learned, but it was said that Christiansburg and Salem offered sites, while Marion made several propositions, which included one of free water and light service for a long period.

Professor J. T. Einstein appeared on his own behalf and offered the St. Albans property, buildings and fifty-three acres, for $30,000, or twenty acres additional for $32,000. Captain Olanoff, of the St. Albans, also submitted a paper setting forth what Radford citizens had raised to help pay for the St. Albans property, and promised that should the committee consider the site desirable, the amount of the subscriptions would be raised.

A number of Radford citizens are disposed to give if it becomes necessary to clinch Radford's hold on the school.

The committee will visit the sites at Christiansburg and Salem, also, tomorrow.

FOLEY SENTENCED TO SIX MONTHS IN JAIL

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Hampton, Va., October 11.—James Foley, an iron worker employed by the Old Dominion Iron Company, in Richmond, was this afternoon convicted in the Circuit Court of cutting James Birch, steward at the Buckroe Beach Hotel, and sentenced to six months in the county jail, and to pay a fine of $50. Birch was stabbed a number of times, and had to remain in a hospital two weeks. Foley said he was drunk when he did the cutting and was not responsible for his acts.

George R. Chilton, an artilleryman at Fort Monroe, who broke the skull of W. T. Dixon, a collector in Phoebus, got off with a fine of $50. Dixon was just recovered from the assault, which took place last May. Chilton claimed that he did not intend to kill Dixon, but had intended thrashing him, and the skull breaking was an accident.
